Firecracker Pineapple Chicken

Sweet, tangy, and spicy, with pineapple juice and Frank's RedHot over rice

Illustration

Chicken 1 lb+
Marinate 30 min+
Cook sear, bake, or grill
Serve over rice

INGREDIENTS

- Boneless chicken breast (about 1 lb or more)
- Pineapple juice (½ to ¾ cup)
- Frank's RedHot sauce (2 to 4 Tbsp)
- Green onions (scallions), sliced
- Avocado oil or neutral cooking oil
- Rice for serving

OPTIONAL

- Pineapple tidbits or chunks
- Tapioca starch or cornstarch, for coating and thickening
- Fresh ginger
- Soy sauce or coconut aminos, or a little brown sugar, to make it stickier
- Sesame seeds, for garnish

STEPS

1. Mix the pineapple juice and Frank's. Start with ½ to ¾ cup juice and 2 to 4 Tbsp Frank's, then adjust the heat and sweetness to taste. For a stickier sauce, add a splash of soy sauce or a little brown sugar.
2. Marinate the chicken for 30 minutes to a few hours, or just use the mixture as a simmering and glazing sauce.
3. Cook the chicken by pan-searing, baking, or grilling it. Then simmer the sauce until it thickens a bit and coat the chicken with it.
4. Finish with sliced green onions and serve over rice.

Heart-healthy tip: Chicken breast is already a lean pick. Cook it in a little avocado oil, use coconut aminos or low-sodium soy if you want it stickier, and try serving it over brown rice for extra fiber.

From Foodie, saved from Rick's own recipe