Heat high, then medium

PORK & MARINADE

- 500 g pork
- 1 tsp light soy sauce
- 1 tsp rice wine
- 1 tsp cornstarch
- 1/4 tsp black pepper
- 1 tbsp water
- 1 tsp cooking oil

ALSO

- Cooking oil, for stir-frying
- 1 tsp rice wine
- 1/2 onion, divided
- A few chopped scallions

SAUCE

- 1 tsp light soy sauce
- 1 tsp oyster sauce
- 1/4 tsp dark soy sauce
- 1/8 tsp salt
- 1/4 tsp sugar
- 1/8 tsp black pepper
- 1/2 tsp cornstarch
- 50 ml water

STEPS

1. Marinate the pork: mix the 500 g pork with 1 tsp light soy sauce, 1 tsp rice wine, 1 tsp cornstarch, 1/4 tsp black pepper, and 1 tbsp water. Mix well, add 1 tsp cooking oil, mix again, and marinate for 10 minutes.
2. Heat cooking oil in a pan over high heat. Add the pork and cook until golden underneath, then flip and cook until both sides are golden.
3. Add 1 tsp rice wine and stir-fry until fragrant. Keep the heat high so the pork stays juicy with a browned outside. Set the pork aside.
4. Make the sauce: mix the light soy sauce, oyster sauce, dark soy sauce, salt, sugar, black pepper, cornstarch, and 50 ml water.
5. Heat the remaining oil over medium heat. Add half the onion and stir-fry until fragrant. Add the pork and stir well.
6. Add the rest of the onion and stir-fry until slightly softened. Pour in the sauce and stir well.
7. Add a few chopped scallions, stir, and serve.

Amounts are as Leon gives them in his video captions. He doesn't say how to cut the pork or how much cooking oil to use for stir-frying, so those are left as he left them. 'Set the pork aside' is implied, since he adds it back later.

> Heart-healthy tip: Use a lean cut like pork tenderloin and trim any visible fat. Swap in low-sodium soy sauce and oyster sauce and skip the added salt, use just enough oil to coat the pan, and serve over brown rice or with extra veggies.
