Thai Chicken Salad

Crunchy slaw salad with grilled chicken and peanut dressing · From Weight Watchers

Illustration

Serves 2 (1 salad per serving)
Cook About 20 min
WW 5 points/serving

PEANUT DRESSING

- 2 Tbsp creamy peanut butter with omega-3
- 1 Tbsp water, warm
- 2 tsp low sodium soy sauce
- 2 tsp rice wine vinegar
- 2 tsp honey
- 1/2 tsp ginger root, minced
- 1/2 tsp minced garlic
- 1/2 tsp kosher salt
- 1 pinch cayenne pepper

SALAD

- 2 sprays cooking spray
- 10 oz uncooked boneless skinless chicken breast(s)
- 2 cups packaged coleslaw mix (shredded cabbage and carrots)
- 1 medium sweet red pepper, thinly sliced
- 1 cup cucumber, thinly sliced
- 1/4 cup uncooked red onion, sliced thinly
- 1/4 cup fresh mint leaves, minced, plus additional for garnish
- 2 Tbsp uncooked scallions, chopped

STEPS

1. To make dressing, whisk together first nine ingredients (peanut butter through cayenne) and keep at room temperature.
2. Spray a nonstick skillet or grill pan with cooking spray and heat over medium-high heat.
3. Cook breasts, turning occasionally, until internal temperature reaches 165°F, approximately 20 minutes.
4. While breasts are cooking, toss together coleslaw, bell pepper, cucumber, onion and mint. Divide evenly across two serving bowls.
5. Remove cooked breasts from heat, cross-slice each breast and place one breast on top of each salad.
6. Drizzle salads evenly with peanut dressing and garnish with scallions and additional mint.

Ingredients come from Rick's 2019 screenshot and steps from his Google Doc. Neither listed prep time.

> Heart-healthy tip: This recipe is heart-friendly as written: lean chicken, lots of veggies, and peanut butter for healthy fats.