INGREDIENTS

- 2 pounds beef bottom round, trimmed of excess fat
- 2 teaspoons kosher salt
- 1 teaspoon freshly ground black pepper
- 1 cup all-purpose flour
- 3 whole eggs, beaten
- 1/4 cup vegetable oil
- 2 cups chicken broth
- 1/2 cup whole milk
- 1/2 teaspoon fresh thyme leaves

STEPS

1. Preheat oven to 250 degrees F.
2. Cut the meat with the grain into 1/2-inch thick slices. Season each piece on both sides with the salt and pepper. Place the flour into a pie pan and the eggs into a separate pie pan. Dredge the meat on both sides in the flour.
3. Tenderize the meat, using a needling device, until each slice is 1/4-inch thick. Dredge again in the flour, then the egg, and finally the flour again. Repeat with all the pieces. Let the meat sit on a plate 10 to 15 minutes before cooking.
4. Place enough of the vegetable oil to cover the bottom of a 12-inch slope-sided skillet over medium-high heat. Once the oil shimmers, add the meat in batches without overcrowding. Cook each piece until golden brown, approximately 4 minutes per side. Move the steaks to a wire rack set in a half sheet pan in the oven. Repeat until all the meat is browned.
5. Add the remaining vegetable oil, or at least 1 tablespoon, to the pan. Whisk in 3 tablespoons of the flour left over from the dredging. Add the chicken broth and deglaze the pan. Whisk until the gravy boils and begins to thicken.
6. Add the milk and thyme and whisk until the gravy coats the back of a spoon, approximately 5 to 10 minutes. Season to taste with more salt and pepper, if needed. Serve the gravy over the steaks.

> Heart-healthy tip: Save this one for a special treat. Make the gravy with low-fat milk and pair the steak with a big green salad instead of another heavy side.
